ENTERTAINS FRIENDS

JACK THOMAS TAKES HOUSE GUESTS ON SIGHT-SEEING TRIP TO RIVERSIDE

Mrs. Dee Connell and Miss Mae Percival of Redfield, South Dakota, are visiting Mrs. Jack Thomas of the White Inn. Miss Percival is the aunt of Mrs. Thomas, who recently entertained with a luncheon in honor of the two ladies mentioned, their friends Mrs. Mildred Friedman and Mrs. Adam Eckhart of Redfield, South Dakota. On Sunday Mr. Thomas, accompanied by Miss Percival and by Mrs. Connell and also by Mrs. Carline, of Glendale, motored to Riverside to show his house guests a bit of Southern California landscape and good roads, entertaining them for dinner at the Mission Inn. Mr. Thomas has just suffered the loss of his father whom he visited at holiday time and it is a great comfort to him that he did so. The whole family were together at a Christmas dinner for the first time in twenty-five years, covers being laid for nineteen. The old gentleman who had been in a critical state of health for some time, passed away last Thursday.

MORE NEW RESIDENTS COMING

Among recent sales by Doner & Hemenway may be mentioned the Loftus place, a seven-room bungalow with beautiful surroundings, in Glendale Heights. The buyer is W. H. Joplin, who recently came here from Canada. He will move his family here as soon as he can get possession and make some alterations.

Mrs. L. J. Oldham got tired of living in Los Angeles rooming houses, so bought through this firm two lots at Pacific and California avenues. She will build a five-room bungalow on one of them at once.

Miss Mabel Hunting of San Diego has bought the place at 832 South Maryland Avenue, occupied for several years by S. E. Ellsworth and wife and recently sold by them to Mr. Douthitt.

PRESENT TO ALHAMBRA

Last Saturday was park day at Alhambra when the civic bodies of that city undertook to beautify the newly acquired park which Howard Huntington, S. P. magnate, has given the town by the planting of trees and shrubbery. Thinking it would be a graceful courtesy for Glendale to show its friendliness and interest, City Forester Marek was dispatched to Alhambra with a gift of fifty trees from the Glendale municipal nursery.

GLENDALE ATTRACTS HOLLYWOOD RESIDENTS

Dan Kemman and wife are moving today into the house they recently bought at 719 North Maryland Avenue. They came out from Chicago last June and settled in Hollywood, but learning that their old friends, the Jurgensons, were living in Glendale, they came over to see them and were so charmed with this city of beautiful homes that they decided to buy and locate here. Mr. Kemman was in the grocery business for many years.

VISIT TO SAN PEDRO

MRS. J. H. BRALY AND SISTER INSPECT NAVAL STATION AS GUEST OF OFFICER

By invitation of an officer of the U. S. Navy and his family, Mrs. J. H. Braly of Glendale and her sister, Mrs. C. W. Wells of Minneapolis, Minn., had the privilege of inspecting the submarine station.

The U. S. submarine base, located at San Pedro, is the only one on the Pacific coast (three are on the Atlantic, at Boston, Hampton Roads and Key West, and one at Hawaii), and at present this one has 309 trained men of our navy. The building, beside accommodations for the men, has the radio station, each submarine being equipped with its own special machine, the torpedoes, the explosives, the electric equipment in the high voltage room for electrifying the boats for a certain length of time, the gasoline storage, lubricants and other supplies.

In the harbor is stationed the Minneapolis, the flagship of the Pacific Fleet and five or six submarine boats of American build, one or two convoys, but the most interesting of all is the ex-German submarine boat, the U. B.-88. This was built in 1918 and in the brief time before the armistice had destroyed 16 of the Allied ships. (Exterior). Built of steel, it is (Continued on Page 4)

WORK ON CHECK DAMS

CHARGES THAT THEY WERE FLIMSILY BUILT TO BE INVESTIGATED BY OFFICIALS

Mr. Daley, in charge of flood control work in this city, and several of the Glendale officials have been invited to accompany Mr. Reagan and a party of engineers which will today inspect the work done by county forces in the building of check dams back of San Fernando because of a savage attack made by a Mr. Hartranft of Little Landers, who charges that the work was flimsily done and that the check dams went out in the last rain. The defense is made that the dams have not gone out but that they were filled to the top with the ashes and debris from the forest fires which the rain washed into them, and that they simply need cleaning out. It is expected that today's investigation will determine the truth or falsity of the charges.

The city is well satisfied with the work which has been done by the county forces under Mr. Daley within our own municipality, and it will (Continued on Page 6)

INTERESTING FIGURES

ONE-THIRD POPULATION OF STATE IN L. A. COUNTY IS BELIEF

The annual report of the Board of Supervisors of Los Angeles county, received through the courtesy of Supervisor Jonathan S. Dodge, shows a number of facts that may be of interest to our readers.

It may surprise some of our people to know that Los Angeles county, comprising about ten per cent of Southern California, has a total area of 4009 square miles, of which 3880 square miles are mainland, 73 square miles the Island of Catalina, and 56 square miles the Island of San Clemente. The mainland area is considerably greater than the combined area of both Delaware and Rhode Island, and the whole is four-fifths the size of the State of Connecticut and one-half the size of the State of Massachusetts.

The population of Los Angeles County is about equal to that of the State of Maine or the State of Colorado, and it is confidently believed that the present census will show that one-third of the entire population of the State of California reside within the borders of Los Angeles county.

The census of 1880 showed a population of 33,881, and that of 1900 a population of 170,298. The population of 1919, based upon school registration, is approximately 1,125,000, showing a growth of 550 per cent in the last twenty years.

AID ENUMERATOR

MRS. GRIST SAYS GLENDALE SANITARIUM GAVE EVERY ASSISTANCE

Mrs. Grist, one of the census enumerators, reports that she has completed her work. Her territory comprised Precincts 13 and 21. If any one in those precincts has not been enumerated they can reach Mrs. Grist at her home, 141 South Cedar Street. Precinct 13 includes all that territory between Broadway and Lomita and between Everett and Louise. Precinct 21 extends from Glendale Avenue to Louise and from Broadway to Lexington.

Mrs. Grist is more than delighted and grateful for the treatment she received at the Glendale Sanitarium. The entire business machinery of the sanitarium was placed at her disposal for more than a day and every effort was made by the management to make the work easy for her. She appreciates this help the more because she did not meet with such courtesy everywhere.

In speaking of the difficulties encountered by the enumerators, Mrs. Grist said in one instance a blank form which she left to be filled out was mailed back to her without being filled out, and she has no way of knowing where it came from. In another instance where a number of people were residing in the same house she was told to get the information the best way she could. While the law requires that assistance be given in such cases, Mrs. Grist stated that the enumerators did not report them, as they wished to avoid trouble.

WEATHER FORECAST: Partly cloudy and showers probable tonight; cooler Wednesday.

RIVERS' AND HARBORS' APPROPRIATIONS

BILL REPORTED TO HOUSE CALLS FOR $12,000,000 FOR THE COMPLETION OF PROJECTS AUTHORIZED

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)
WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—Rivers and Harbors' Bill appropriations totalling twelve millions were reported to the House by the Rivers and Harbors Committee today. Originally the bill carried $41,000,000 but sweeping reductions have been made because of the demand for governmental economy.

The bill now includes $5,000,000 for the maintenance of existing projects and $7,000,000 for the completion of projects previously authorized. No new work is provided for.

PRESSING EUROPEAN PROBLEM

POLITICAL AND SOCIAL UNREST AND THE LABOR MOVEMENT CHIEF CONCERN OF GOVERNMENTS

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)
LONDON, Jan. 20.—The general political and social unrest is now holding first place in the consideration of European Chancelleries. The various European governments are considering the Bolshevik menace, the unfavorable rates of exchange, the necessity of extending aid to Austria, Armenia and Poland, and the labor situation as the most important problems now before them.

In England the labor movement has grown to such proportions that the country now faces a labor government. Several serious strikes are in progress.

In Germany rioting and bloodshed already have accompanied industrial and political disputes. A food and fuel shortage is feared.

Italy is now confronted with a threatened railway strike. In France the demand of the French workers for peace with Russia is growing to considerable proportions and promises to be an important problem.

In Spain a strong communistic movement is growing. Austria, with her grain supply taken away by the peace treaty, appears to face utter ruin.

Conditions in the Balkans and Poland have been bad but now are gradually improving.

SUSPENDED SOCIALIST LEGISLATORS

HEARINGS BY JUDICIARY COMMITTEE OF ASSEMBLY TO DETERMINE THEIR STATUS

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)
ALBANY, N. Y., Jan. 20.—The New York Assembly judiciary committee today opened its hearings to determine whether the suspended socialist members of the assembly are qualified for seats.

It was announced that the hearing would be conducted along the same lines as proceedings in the Supreme Court.

Charles Evans Hughes, representing the New York Bar Association, asked the committee to determine his status at the hearing, but other preliminaries prevented this determination from being given immediately. It is forecasted that the hearing will be completed this week.

INFLUENZA IN CHICAGO

HAS REACHED EPIDEMIC STAGE AND NEW CASES ARE REPORTED AT RATE OF 1000 A DAY

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)
CHICAGO, Jan. 20.—Health officials said today that influenza in Chicago has reached an epidemic stage with new cases developing at the rate of 1000 daily. The death rate is low. Only twenty-six deaths have occurred in two days.

WOULD DEFY CONSTITUTIONAL PROHIBITION

GOVERNOR OF NEW JERSEY URGES LEGISLATURE TO PASS RESOLUTION REFUSING TO ACCEPT IT

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)
TRENTON, N. J., Jan. 20.—Governor Edward Edwards in delivering his inaugural address today asked the legislature for legislation securing the people in the right to live under conditions satisfactory to them. He urged the passage of a resolution refusing to accept or to ratify constitutional prohibition.

"I will do everything lawful to have it determined that the present condition of affairs with respect to prohibition has been illegally forced upon the people of this state," he said.

WANT TO TRY PROFITEERS

LONDON DAILY HERALD URGES GOVERNMENT TO TRY "WAR MONGERS" ALONG WITH KAISER

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)
LONDON, Jan. 20.—The Daily Herald today calls on the government to try the "war mongers" and "war contract profiteers" along with the kaiser. It said that Winston Churchill also should be tried for his alleged attempt to institute a war with Russia.

A NEW HOME

DR. HARROWER, F. H. VESPER AND C. A. LESSARD CO-OPERATE IN BUILDING

Work is progressing with the foundations of a new house on North Cedar Street which is being built by Dr. Henry R. Harrower for sale. Dr. Harrower has frequently voiced the necessity for Glendaleans getting together and improving vacant property and one of his schemes, mentioned in the News some time ago, was to have the land owner, contractor and the one for whom the prospective home was to be built, get together and co-operate to increase the value and salability of the lot as well as to give Glendale what she needs more than anything else—more homes.

Mr. F. H. Vesper of the Bank of Glendale happens to be the owner of this lot, and he has agreed to permit the building to be erected and to wait for his remuneration until the finished house is sold, thus obviating the necessity for the investment of money for the ground and extra delay and expense for double transfer fees. The contractor, Mr. C. A. Lessard, will put up the house at cost, the owner to furnish the funds as needed, then on the sale of the property, each party will be reimbursed on a predetermined scale for his share of the transaction. A good plan which might be carried out advantageously on a thousand vacant lots in Glendale.

A VISITING NURSE

Miss Allen, field representative of the Pacific Division of the American Red Cross, visited the Glendale chapter Monday morning to look over the work with a view of establishing a visiting nurse here if there seems to be sufficient need of it.

VITAL STATISTICS

CITY CLERK SHERER COMPLAINS THAT DOCTORS ARE LAX IN REPORTING BABIES

Records of vital statistics kept by City Clerk Sherer show that during the year 1919 there were 240 deaths in the city, as compared with 242 the previous year. A considerable percentage of deaths was from pneumonia. Deaths during January of the present year have averaged higher than last year thus far. Deaths in January 1919 totalled sixteen. Deaths in January thus far total twenty and almost one-third of the month is yet to run. There has been no special epidemic to account for these deaths. They have been for the most part chronic cases of persons who have died at hospitals of which Glendale now has four.

The births during 1919 totalled 174 according to the record but Mr. Sherer says the physicians of the town are very lax in reporting births; that undoubtedly many residents are born into the city who never are listed on his record.

AUSTRALIANS BUY GLENDALE HOME

The Wm. J. Button place at 207 W. Lexington Drive, a 10-room house on a highly improved lot, has just been sold through the Calvin Whiting real estate agency, to Joshua Ratcliff, who has been living in Mrs. Dora Glazier's home at 320 East Lomita avenue, for three months past. He will gain possession of the new home on April 1. Mr. Ratcliff was a business man in Melbourne, Australia for a number of years, but lived in England during the past five. He has a son in Cambridge University, England. He and his wife and the other five children will now be permanent residents of Glendale.

Last evening Dr. and Mrs. Henry R. Harrower entertained the employees of the Harrower Laboratory at a pleasant social affair at their residence on North Cedar Street. The evening was devoted largely to music and fun. Mr. Lawrence Andrews, a recent comer to Glendale and a talented pianist, was invited to render a number of selections and Miss Jeanette Gilbert, of Los Angeles, sang her mother's well known song, "California Is Calling Me," which evoked much applause, as both words and music voice sentiments that are usual in the hearts of those who have been in Sunny California but have been forced to return "back East." About forty persons were present, including a majority of the staff of the laboratory and the Oliver Company, which is affiliated with Dr. Harrower's work.

NEW LAW FIRM

MATTISON B. JONES AND DWIGHT W. STEPHENSON FORM PARTNERSHIP WITH L. WILSON

Messrs. Mattison B. Jones, Dwight W. Stephenson, and Leonard Wilson have just announced the formation of a partnership, for the practice of law, under the firm name of Jones, Wilson & Stephenson, with offices at suite 722, Merchants National Bank building, Los Angeles. This announcement is of great interest to Glendale people, as Mr. Jones and Mr. Stephenson are residents of this city.

Mr. Jones is one of the best known attorneys in Los Angeles, having practiced his profession in that city for the past twenty years in both state and federal courts. He is a native of Kentucky and received his early education in the best schools of his home state, later being a member of the faculty of the Williamsburg Institute (now Cumberland College) and the State University of Lexington, Ky. He was admitted to practice law at London, Ky., in 1895.

Mr. Jones has been and is a profound student of the law. For some time he occupied the chair of Private Corporations in the college of law of the University of Southern California, giving up that position on account of the increasing burden of his private practice. He is a member of the Bar Association of Los Angeles. (Continued on Page 4)

E. S. LAWRENCE BUYS HOME

E. S. Lawrence of the Ford Agency who has been occupying property which he rented at 1304 North Maryland Avenue, has bought a place at 224 South Jackson Street not far from Colorado. Two days before he bought the tenants who have been occupying it gave it up so he will be able to get possession Wednesday. He is very much pleased with his purchase, which is conveniently located with reference to his business and many other things in which he is interested.

S. D. A. CHURCH BUILDING

Fine progress is being made on the new Seventh-day Adventist Church building at California Avenue and Isabel. It is all enclosed and the concrete steps at the entrances are finished. There is a belt of shingle construction about five feet high all around the walls at the bottom, and above this is plain weather boarding. The entire building is on the plainest lines, combining utility with rigid economy of construction. Every foot of floor space is utilized to the best advantage.

GLENDALE SANITARIUM NOTES

Miss Anna Kimlin, sister of Clarence Kimlin, business manager of the Glendale Sanitarium, has sufficiently recovered from the operation she recently underwent at the "San" to return to her home in Los Angeles.

T. J. Walker, a prominent resident of San Fernando, is a guest at the Glendale Sanitarium.

PEOPLE OF INDIA

ELDER WOOD TELLS ABOUT CUSTOMS AND RELIGION OF THE INHABITANTS OF INDIA

Elder M. D. Wood, a missionary of the Seventh-day Adventist denomination, here on furlough from India, spoke to an interested audience Sunday night at the Third street school auditorium.

He touched on the different castes of the people of India, their customs and the various modes of evangelization employed by missionaries. Elder Wood prefaced his remarks by giving the native salute to his audience, asking them to respond with the same, which they did to the best of their ability.

"Unlike our country," he said, "India is densely populated. The chocolate colored skins of the natives with their bright hued apparel form a combination which is really quite pleasing to the eye."

The Hindus are extremely dirty in their persons, seldom or never taking baths and after smearing themselves with ashes from head to foot. Their idea of honesty consists in evading detection rather than the avoidance of wrong doing. When circumstantially convicted, they calmly concede the point which at first had been vigorously denied.

STATE NEWS

LOS ANGELES, Calif., Jan. 20.—The tent house, built of canvas with a board floor and maybe, if the owner is fastidious, boarded part way up the sides, is hitting hard blows at the high cost of rent.

Beneath the balmy California skies it is serviceable winter and summer alike. As a result scores of families, unable to find houses or apartments, have pitched their tents in the open and live comfortably and happily.

Los Angeles, Whittier, Pasadena and half a dozen other southern California towns now have large tent colonies. On one tract in Los Angeles forty canvas castles are doing fine service.

They are comfortable and they beat not only the high cost of rent, but the high cost of living, their owners say.

"Our tent, sixteen by twenty feet, cost $40.50," Mrs. D. A. Fetterman of Portland, Ore., told the United Press. "The canvas cost $18.50 and the lumber $22. Myself, my husband and our boy live in it. We feel perfectly at home. A little sheet metal stove keeps us warm as toast."

Mrs. John Merwe of Buffalo, New York, who came west for the winter and couldn't get an apartment, inventoried the cost of her tent house this way:

"Two rolls of roofing paper, $1.75; lumber, $4; nails, 25 cents.

"Three of us occupy the house—myself, my husband and our 16-months old baby," she said. "The baby is fine. None of us had a cold this winter."

PASADENA, Cal.—Candy manufacturers of the West today opened their annual convention here.

All the big candy factories of the Western states were represented, delegates being present from Washington, Oregon, Idaho, Montana, California, British Columbia, Saskatchewan, Wyoming, Colorado, Utah, Nevada, New Mexico and Arizona.

The meeting is being held in the Hotel Green. Wives and families of many of the confectioners are with them and entertainment for the women and children is to be provided while the candymen are transacting business.

W. B. Hughes of Chicago, secretary of the National Confectioners' Association, is here for the meeting and will address the Western manufacturers.

SAN FRANCISCO.—Under sealed orders, the army transport Mount Vernon was scheduled to leave this port today.

Major-General C. A. Dovel, who issue the order for departure of the transport would not reveal the ship's destination.

SEATTLE, Wash.—Seattle is awaiting with interest the outcome of the case of Joe Smith, secretary-treasurer of the Pigott Printing concern and connected for years with state politics, whose hearing on a charge of criminal libel is expected to be called soon in a justice's court here.

Mayor C. B. Fitzgerald caused Smith's arrest.

Mayor Fitzgerald charges Smith circulated handbills bearing the following:

"For mayor—Cecil B. Fitzgerald. Sample portrait. Has the unqualified indorsement of his private secretary." This was followed by the union label of the Allied Printing Trades Council No. 67, and the words, "Paid for by the city of Seattle."

The mayor declares Smith thereby insinuated he was fraudulently, corruptly and criminally guilty of malfeasance in office.

An old chap at El Centro raised $70 for his Christmas celebration in a daintily original way. He sent a fake telegram to himself stating that his wife was dying in Long Beach, and for him to come at once, and on the strength of the telegram he raised a donation fund of $70 from the business men, with which he proceeded to light up for the merry Yuletide. When he came to several days later he found himself holding the hot end of a ninety-day jail sentence.

180 feet long and 25 feet wide, painted green with the figure of an eye on one side and the decoration of a German war cross won by its commander. Also, from the bow to the highest point on the top is an immense saw to cut the wire nets by which the English coasts were protected. To reach the inside we (interior) climbed down two vertical ladders, one on the side of wharf building, the other through the man-hole of the "U," as there is no deck proper to a submarine. These ladders are not exactly built with reference to lady visitors, the rungs are very far apart and the inside is exceedingly slippery with lubricants, being a protection when submerged in the briny deep against rust. Inside, almost every spot was full of valves, with dials to register the amount of pressure similar to a hot water heating plant. There were tubes, oxygen tanks for making the compressed air breathable when the boat was submerged, there is enough oxygenated air for twelve hours' use before the reserve tanks are needed. The valves to let the air out and the water into the compartments to sink the boat are painted red, the blue valves are worked to reverse the process to bring the boat to the surface. Thirty men were required for this U-boat, including the crew, about 16 of whom really managed the attack. The real construction of the boat, Lieut. Webb explained, was like a double skin, and in between the two is carried the oil to propel the boat and eight torpedoes. When on the surface the motor power is gasoline, when below electricity. Although the boat is charged at the base, there is also an electric storage battery on board when more is needed.

The commander occupies the conning tower-like in a battleship, from this projects the periscope which is above water when not in action, but of course is entirely out of sight when the boat goes down for action. From the conning tower looking into a reflector the commander directs the pilot, who is below and can himself see nothing of the direction. The boat is built very compact to make every inch of space available. The men's bunks and tiny lockers back of them must reduce their wants to life's necessities only. The tiny kitchen has tubes and sockets to supply the heat for cooking, each utensil having its own separate tube, so that nothing is at all loose on the range like an ordinary kitchen. The usual deck of the boat is 50 feet below the surface when in action, but it can sink to the depth of 200 feet. When on the surface it draws fourteen feet of water. On the inside was painted in black letters the oft-heard motto of war times, "Gott mit uns." The torpedoes are fired from an opening on the side and directed to a point amidships, although sometimes gun fire instead of torpedoes are used. The torpedoes are made in two sections. The part carrying the explosive, from three to six hundred pounds, is about three feet, or one-fifth of the whole length, and is painted red. The part which has the battery giving the explosive the "go" is heated by alcohol and has at the end two propellers which look like the end of an airplane. The rate of speed of these torpedoes is forty miles an hour.

This boat was left by the Huns at Harwich, England, and after four months of disuse it was cleaned up and brought to the United States by our navy. It is still used in practice and considering its history, fiendish as it was, is truly one of the great sights, it having been one of the favorite U-boats of the ex-Kaiser.

H. J. Baker is an old settler in the Imperial Valley. D. B. Baker moved into the valley a few days ago. They met and found they were brothers, having lost each other 27 years ago. We have often wondered how two close relatives could miss finding each other for that long, if they were really trying, in these days of rapid means of communication and transportation and publicity. It was not so strange in the days of Evangeline and Gabriel when no one knew what the people in the next county were doing, and there were no steamships and telegraph and telephones and fast mails and detective bureaus and publicity agencies. But nowadays Evangeline wouldn't have been an old maid six months if she had gone at her search in as earnest and systematic a manner as she did in her own day.

Whittier's Chamber of Commerce and a special committee from the board of trustees is adopting the plan of building a temporary tent city to house the unprecedented influx of new residents and visitors. Other towns could do far worse than follow the same plan. There are many more uncomfortable ways to live than in a well-setup tent, and in California that kind of a life would do most people good. Tourists pay high prices to live in tent cities at beach and mountain resorts. Why not get them into a beach or mountain mental attitude, and they'll enjoy it just as much in any town.

The Keel Klub at Long Beach is either awfully late celebrating last Christmas or awfully early celebrating next Christmas. They had their Christmas tree and gifts on the night of January 9th.

New February Numbers of Columbia Records

Hackett and Barrientos in Exquisite Rigoletto Love Duet

These exclusive Columbia artists make a marvelous vocal combination in "E Il Sol dell'Anima," the matchless duet of the Duke and Gilda from Verdi's Rigoletto. His seductive pleading and her response make this the supreme love aria of one of the greatest of all operas.

Grainger Sparkles in "Polish Dance"

That enticing melodious mixture of blitheness and pathos, Scharwenka's "Polish Dance in E Flat Minor," ripples forth alluringly under Percy Grainger's lightsome touch. On the reverse this exclusive Columbia artist renders that popular favorite by Grieg, "To the Springtime," and his own sailor's chantey, "One More Day, My John."

A-6128—$1.50

Seidel's Violin Sobs "Eili, Eili"

A marvelous feat of musicianship is this exclusive Columbia artist's rendering of "Eili, Eili," that age-old agonized cry to heaven. Actually human cries of despair, the wailing and sobs of multitudes, are in the tones of Toscha Seidel's violin.

49526—$1.50

And 46 Other Great Selections

The 51 new Columbia selections for February include 2 Grand Opera arias, 1 Neapolitan ballad sung by a Grand Opera star, 18 popular song hits, 8 orchestra selections, 4 band pieces, 3 piano solos, 2 accordion solos, 2 hymns, 1 violin solo and 10 dances, comprising 6 fox-trots, 3 waltzes and a one-step.

LEAP YEAR

There was a period when the old laws of Scotland and France gave the women the right to make proposals of marriage during Leap Year. In Scotland a man refusing such an offer could be fined one pound. Thus feminism stirred early in the hearts of women.

The modern custom, giving men the exclusive privilege of making this proposal, seems to have risen from the old conception of woman as a weak or inferior creature. Women felt they could win men only through charm and elusiveness. If they sought after men, they seemed to cheapen themselves and become less desirable.

Today many women are physically as strong as men, and are mentally superior. The average woman is better educated. Many women are succeeding in business and the professions. It seems particularly inappropriate if a strong and achieving woman must act as if she were defenceless and inferior.

Women's intuitions are superior to men's. If they feel this attitude of reserve best suited to the interests of their sex, there is no doubt some reason for it. But some splendid girls, admirably fitted to become wives and mothers take it too seriously. Fearful of offending the highest standards, they adopt an attitude of such great reserve as to cool the approach of suitors, whom they might win by a little more assertion of their feelings.

This is not the case at all with the average girl. She may seem helpless in the presence of the vacillating male. But she has ways of allurements and strategy known to her sex. By these she can bring an irresolute and inconstant lover to declare himself in a manly way.

Nominally he takes the initiative. Actually it was hers. Every year may be Leap Year to a girl who knows her own mind. Some hunted bachelors know this truth quite too well for their comfort. —Human Interest Editorials.

CHINA ABSORBS UNRULY NEIGHBOR

The Chinese are seeking to make Mongolia an outlet for their surplus population. Already they have colonized a considerable area of southern Mongolia, and by assiduous industry have converted parts of the prairie into rich farming lands. The land will in time belong to those who will use it most efficiently. Anyone who compares the two races must admit that the Chinese are vastly superior. They are the practical, clever, industrious sons of agriculture and of crafty trade. The Mongols are the naive, unsophisticated race. They are ignorant of their strength as were the Indians. The Chinese have back of them forty centuries of cultural civilization, while the Mongols have only a tradition of military exploits. There are 350,000,000 Chinese and only 5,000,000 Mongols. The Mongols are set and unprogressive, while the Chinese are striving to adopt those sciences and inventions of the western world which seem applicable to their needs. Twenty-four centuries ago the Chinese built the Great Wall to keep the Mongols out. Now they have pierced the great wall with a modern railroad and have sent automobiles scurrying over prairies of Mongols. And yet this Mongol nation once established the largest empire the world has ever seen. Even today their country is one of the largest in the world, with an area of some 1,367,000 square miles. It is nearly half the size of the United States and about three-fourths the size of China proper. The mere mention of its boundaries suggests enormous distances. On the north and west it is bounded by Siberia, on the east by Manchuria, and on the south by Chihli, Kansu and Chinese Turkestan.

Mongolia is a great plateau rimmed and partially ribbed with mountain ranges. The greater part of this vast domain is fertile prairie land, and with the exception of Gobi, the soil is rich and there is sufficient rainfall for cattle raising and agriculture.

PUBLIC THIRST FOR KNOWLEDGE

The California state library announces that during the year ending June 30, 1919, a total of 13,455,634 books was taken from all the public libraries in the state. This would average more than four books for every man, woman and child.

Most marvelous printing press!

And more marvelous thirst for knowledge that the figures reveal. For although the reader seeks only entertainment in his conscious mind; yet subconsciously he absorbs knowledge, and he can obtain the entertainment only by the knowledge he takes unto himself, the greater grows his capacity for enjoyment.

Among the most read features of any newspaper are those which disseminate knowledge in an entertaining way. People are perennial arguers. And to argue you must know, or think you know, and then you have to look it up to settle the argument.

There are those who affect a lofty disdain for the "uncultured" masses. But the "uncultured" masses are far more intelligent than they are accredited with by the savants and pundits.

Their taste may be for the happy endings, the frivolous and the shallow. But this is largely because their daily lives are compounded of stress and strife and struggle. They want to see somebody happy, if it is only in a book or a play. They have so many problems of their own to settle in making both ends touch that they are not prone to take on extra intellectual effort in solving the devious riddles of "higher art."

What a tremendous, an overwhelming stride from the days of carving picture words on stone to the dissemination of ideas revealed in the library statistics! And these are only a fraction of the whole truth! For there are the magazines and newspapers and film screens.

The fedieval monk pored over his palimpsest or original parchment for years engrossing painfully his thoughts or the thoughts of others. The printing press of today, hurls volumes to the hungry world by the billion annually. The ideas may not be so profound, but they reach farther and the world gets at them better.

All hail the printing press!

So far no sympathy is expressed for the folks whose property depreciates because they and a lot of other people have sent so much money out of town to mail order trade.

The courts would better look out, or they are likely to be summoned before the labor unions and the capitalists to answer to the charge of contempt.

Luther Burbank is to perfect a mulberry tree superior to that in most general use at the present time.

A new town has been laid out near Lucaipa, San Bernardino county, to be known as Appeloma.

les County and of the American Bar Association.

Mr. Jones is one of the leading members of the Baptist denomination on the coast, and president of the Board of Trustees of the University of Redlands; he is a lifelong democrat and a Mason of high standing.

Mr. Stephenson is a native of Illinois. He attended the elementary schools of that state, coming to California at an early age. For the past thirteen years he has lived in Glendale, graduating from the Glendale Union High School. After his graduation from the High School, he entered the University of California and graduated from the College of Law of that institution. For several years after his admission to the bar, he was connected with the Legal Department of the Title Guarantee & Trust Company of Los Angeles.

Mr. Stephenson is one of the leading members of the American Legion, having served his country during the late war as an enlisted man and later as a commissioned officer; he is a prominent Mason and an officer in two of the local Masonic bodies.

Mr. Wilson is a native of Missouri, but at an early age came to California where he received his elementary education in the schools of Los Angeles. He is a graduate of the College of Law of the University of Southern California, and since his graduation from that institution has been actively engaged in the practice of his profession in both state and federal courts.

Mr. Wilson, like Mr. Stephenson, is a member of the American Legion, and served his country during the late war in both the capacity of an enlisted man and as an officer.

The members of this new firm have been associated together in the practice of law since 1917, except for that period of time, during which Mr. Stephenson and Mr. Wilson were in the United States army. Their friends are tendering them congratulations on the establishment of this new relation.

worship there would seem to be no occasion for ennui among these extremely religious people. But their religion brings them no happiness, no pardon for sin as they admit.

Their belief in the return of ancestors in the bodies of various animals, prohibits the destruction of life which to them is sacred. Every obnoxious insect and vermin have life insurance.

The idol temples in India constitute its beauty spots. These edifices are beautifully carved and plated on the inside with pure gold and silver. Flowers are used in their ceremonies and if it were not for the ugly gods enthroned within, the arrangement would be pleasing.

The Parsees are much lighter of complexion and extremely cleanly in person and surroundings. The sexes mingle together about as Americans do and kindness of thought and action among those of equal caste is pronounced. Their customary "salaam" literally means "the peace of God be with you." To Europeans the Parsees are very polite and considerate, treating them as of equal rank.

Elder Wood gave a very touching account of a native who grasped the truth of the intercession of Jesus the first time it was presented to him, and who was very anxious to become a Christian. He confessed his sins enumerating them at length, then knelt with the missionary and prayed for forgiveness. On arising he pleading, asked, "Now am I a Christian?"

Many are the opportunities for medical missionary work among this disease-stricken people. This is one way of teaching the love of God.

The speaker stated that while they endeavor to help all classes, it is acknowledged by all missionaries that so far as changing the lives of the people is concerned, the best results are obtained from working with the boys and girls. Only two dollars a month is required to provide the bare necessities for a boy or girl in one of the mission schools, yet there are thousands of youth waiting for admittance, the only obstacle being sufficient means.

Here is ample opportunity for philanthropists who have no children of their own, to help care for these dark-skinned children. The teachers are well repaid for their work when they see good workers developed from these raw recruits from heathendom.

Elder Wood and his wife are wedded to their missionary enterprises and are to return to their work in India soon.

State Commissioner Olney of the California public school system is right when he hands a verbal swat to the frat idea in high schools. High schools need student fraternities just as much as the grade schools need them, and the grades need them fully as much as the kindergarten does. College life is plenty young for boys and girls to attempt to digest the frat idea. Younger than that it is liable to ferment in their cranial craws and cause swelling, or not be assimilated properly for lack of sand or mental pebbles.

OCCUPATIONAL SURVEY FOR WOMEN PLANNED

The Young Women's Christian Association is conducting a survey of New York City and vicinity to investigate opportunities for women trained in employment and personnel work, in publicity work and in work requiring linguistic ability. During the war a great many women developed capabilities never before suspected by themselves. Having become expert during their period of war service, they are now able to fill similar positions in civil life, and the Y. W. C. A. Employment Service has received many applications from them for work along these lines.

The first survey to be completed was that in department stores, to investigate the opportunities for educational directors, employment managers, and so forth, and also for buyers. Another similar investigation is under way in all the factories employing two hundred or more women in Greater New York and vicinity, including the big factory belt in New Jersey. This investigation is discovering some very interesting opportunities not only in employment and personnel work, but also as production managers and fore-women. The number of trained women employed in New York in such positions is very small as compared with those in some other parts of the country.

The survey of possibilities in advertising and publicity work will begin shortly. Many young college women are very anxious to get into this field and women of some business experience are showing more interest in it all the time.

Opportunities for women who can speak, read and write languages other than English were numerous during the war. The Y. W. C. A. survey will visit import and export houses, shipping firms, banks and so forth, to see where such women may find employment now.

For women for whom the bureau cannot find positions on account of their age, personality or home responsibilities, information about all the exchanges and shops in Manhattan where articles made at home may be sold has been collected and placed on file in the Central Branch of the Y. W. C. A. Many women can sew, knit or cook in their own homes, and sell their products through these shops. A survey of all non-commercial employment agencies, as well as of some which charge fees, will also be made, so that the Y. W. C. A. bureau may avoid duplication, and may know to what agencies to recommend people who desire work not available through them.

Those fellows who seem to have been careless with their soft boiled eggs at breakfast, are seen on closer view to be merely wearing the latest colored neckwear.

Personals

Mrs. Amanda Hartley of 231 North Belmont went to Yuma, Ariz., Saturday last, to spend a few weeks with a daughter, Mrs. E. C. Moser.

Miss Lillian Eaton, formerly a teacher in Colorado Boulevard School, is now a saleswoman for the Paige Automobile in the Imperial Valley.

Miss Letha Champion of Los Angeles came Sunday to spend a few days with her sister, Mrs. Earl Steele, 419 West Harvard.

Hiram Ogden of 419 East Harvard, father of Mrs. Mary Ogden Ryan, is at the Glendale Sanitarium recuperating from the effects of a severe cold which he contracted several weeks ago.

A fleet of five airplanes passed over Glendale Monday noon, headed southeast and going at a lively rate. The roar of the motors alarmed many people, who rushed out of their houses in a near panic.

J. E. Audet, who recently moved back to Glendale from Daggett, and bought Miss Champlain's property at 449 Vine Street, has the lumber on the ground for the construction of quite an addition to the three-room house now on the lot, which will be moved to the front.

The Cerritos P. T. A. having voted to donate a comfort to the city institution El Retiro at San Fernando, members of the association will meet at the home of Mrs. A. H. Brown on Gardena Avenue Thursday afternoon to tie it and otherwise make the gift ready for delivery.

Eddie Brown of 414 Vine Street, who has been working at odd jobs in and around Los Angeles, grew tired of a migratory life and is again with the basket factory in the south part of the city, where he is a great favorite on account of his faithful work. He is trying now to rent a house so he can bring his mother to Glendale to live.

Ed M. Lee and family of 345 North Belmont are enjoying a visit from Mr. Lee's cousin, J. M. Crawford, his wife and their daughter, Marie, of New London, Iowa. They expect to stay about three months. Mr. Crawford has extensive business interests in New London, owning several farms, raising stock on a large scale and engaging in the auto business.

G. O. Lockwood, head of the shop in the Manual Arts Department of the High School, has purchased the property where he has been living at 415 East Harvard to insure himself against being ousted by its sale to some one else. He does not intend to make it his permanent home, however, but is planning to build next summer when he will have leisure to supervise the work.

James V. Stead of Chicago, who has been sent to the Pacific Coast in the interest of the Church Forward movement, yesterday afternoon called upon the J. H. Franklin and Blake Franklin families in this city who are old friends and parishoners of his. He is so pleased with Southern California that he is dwelling upon the idea of making his permanent residence here.

M. W. Crook and family, who came here six months ago from Alberta, Canada, and have been living at 541 South San Fernando Road, moved Monday into the house at 226 South Adams, which they purchased from H. W. Flower. They came here for Mr. Crook's health and are very much pleased with the climate and with the city of Glendale in particular. Mrs. Crook says the intention is to make Glendale their permanent home. She says the Evening News was ordered soon after their arrival here and they prize its daily visits very highly.

MRS. J. S. BAIRD OPERATED ON

Mrs. J. S. Baird, who came out with her husband from their Iowa home several weeks ago to spend the winter with their son, A. L. Baird, and daughters, Mrs. T. C. Young, underwent an operation for gall bladder and appendicitis last Saturday at the Westlake Hospital. It was very successful and the patient is improving rapidly.

CHAPTER B. A. of P. E. O.

The regular meeting of Chapter B. A. of the P. E. O. was held Friday at the home of Mrs. R. M. Brown of 416 North Kenwood Street, who was assisted by Mrs. Walter N. Stamps.

The business meeting which as usual was held in the forenoon, was followed by a delicious luncheon and in the afternoon a program was given, which included unison singing of several of the old songs, a drill in Roberts Rules of Order, conducted by Mrs. Charles H. Toll, a symposium on King Arthur and the Round Table arranged and presented by Mrs. A. W. Cross.

Nearly the full membership was present, and also the following guests: Mrs. Warren Roberts and Mrs. J. G. Huntley of Chapter L. Mrs. Randall, Mrs. Noble, and her daughter, Mrs. Hampton, Mrs. Frank Hill of Hollywood, and Mrs. C. J. Tuttle of Chapter A. H.

P. T. A. FEDERATION

REPORT OF MEMBERSHIP CHAIRMAN SHOWS ENROLLMENT IN ORGANIZATIONS

The regular meeting of the Glendale Parent-Teacher Federation was held Monday at 2:15 p. m. in the auditorium of the Intermediate building with Mrs. A. A. Barton presiding.

Mrs. Barton, as president, reported that she had attended all district and state meetings.

Mrs. J. R. White reported the proceeds of the entertainment given by pupils of Mrs. Nanno Woods as $103.25, clear, which amount was placed in the treasury of the federation and will be used for philanthropic purposes.

Good reports were made by all of the chairmen, but especially so was the report of chairman of membership, Mrs. G. D. Roach, which contained the following statistics relative to the enrollment of different associations making up the federation:

High School	90
Intermediate	42
Columbus	95
Pacific Avenue	192
Broadway	140
Colorado	233
Acacia Avenue	85
Cerritos	219
Doran Street	69

The enrollment of Colorado Street School P. T. A. is one more than the total enrollment of pupils.

Mrs. F. B. Moore, chairman of patriotism, announced that the federation Fathers' Night program would be given in February and that each school would be called upon to furnish a number.

Mrs. Barton was elected a delegate to the nominating board of the District Federation.

Principal George U. Moyle addressed the federation relative to the proposed High School bond issue and requested the co-operation of the organization.

Mrs. E. A. Young, chairman of philanthropy, asked for donations of salvage for the Red Cross shop and asked representatives of the various Parent-Teacher Associations to make the request at their meeting. The meeting then adjourned.

FATHERS' NIGHT

EXCELLENT AUDIENCE GATHERS FOR PROGRAM OF CERRITOS P. T. A.

Members of the Cerritos P. T. A. were well satisfied with the entertainment provided for their Fathers' Night program at the K. of P. Hall at Park and Brand Boulevard Monday evening. About one hundred guests were present and it proved a delightful occasion from both the program and social standpoints. Mrs. Eustace B. Moore is president of the association and Mrs. A. H. Brown of Gardena Avenue was responsible for arranging the program, which included the following numbers:

Musical readings by Mrs. Nanno Woods—"Whistling Boy" and "Tale of a Stocking."

Piano solo by Miss Bradshaw, "Polka de Concert."

Reading by Joe Griffin, "Yanks of the Marne."

Greetings from the School Board and general remarks by Superintendent Richardson D. White.

Vocal solo by Mrs. E. B. Moore, "A May Morning."

Fancy Dance, by Misses Dorothy and Kathleen Woods, "The Jesters."

Original Poems by Mrs. Nanno Woods.

Sight of Hand exhibition by W. J. Hibbert.

Address: "If I Were a Father," by Mrs. Kemper Campbell.

Talk by E. E. Harwood, Principal of Cerritos School.

Following the program coffee and sandwiches were served by way of refreshment and a social good time was enjoyed.

Burt Richardson, son of Mrs. Ella Richardson, has returned from Catalina and will be here for several weeks before returning to the East.

Southern California librarians will hold a convention at Pasadena next month.

PLAIN CLOTHES MEN

NEW RESIDENT SUGGESTS ORGANIZING VOLUNTEER POLICE DEPUTIES

Dr. N. Bray of 250 North Verdugo Road is a new comer in our midst who has been studying Glendale institutions. In a recent interview he declared:

"I have been very much impressed by the fact that Glendale appears to be wide open to the operations of thieves, footpads, and lawless persons who trespass on the property of others. As a remedy I would suggest the enlisting of a band of plain clothes deputy police officers made up of citizens who would volunteer for the service and large enough so that officers could be on duty in all parts of the town at all times, the personnel of the officers being frequently changed. These plain clothes men should be able to detect other plain clothes deputies by means of a private mark so there would be no misunderstandings and no mistakes. It should be private so the footpads could not put the same mark on their own clothes.

"When a suspicious character is halted the policeman should have and use a special whistle so penetrating that it would be heard by other deputies in his neighborhood who would come to his assistance immediately, and stop the flight of any man getting away by machine or otherwise.

"If men do not volunteer for this service they should be drafted under a special city ordinance enacted for the purpose of protecting the town. Men should be called upon just as they are called upon for jury service. This is not a paid proposition, but a protective proposition. Our regular police should remain and continue to draw their pay. This proposed force should simply reinforce and assist them."

E. D. BAKER MOVES

Mrs. E. D. Baker and her two children who went to San Francisco to spend the holidays with relatives have just returned and with them have come Mrs. Baker's mother and brother, Mrs. S. R. Harrison and Burton I. Harrison. Mr. Harrison is recuperating from an illness. Mr. Baker was with them on Christmas day, motoring from here to San Francisco and taking with him his sister, Mrs. S. F. Buckman. The Baker family which formerly resided at 311 West Colorado Street is now living at 1912 East Gardena Avenue, and finds the new location very pleasant.

PAPER SHORTAGE

JOHN ADDISON, FORMER BUYER
FOR BIG CANADIAN MILL, EX-
PLAINS WHY OF IT

John Addison, who recently came to Glendale with his wife from Windsor Mills, Quebec Province, Canada, to occupy the old home at 114 North Belmont, is an interesting talker on the subject of paper making. For twenty years he worked for big Canadian paper mills, most of the time scouting for tracts of the kind of timber print papers of all kinds are made of, such as spruce, basswood and balsam fir. The government owns vast reaches of timbered lands and is glad to lease these to companies who need the wood for manufacturing purposes. When all the suitable timber is removed from such a tract, the lease is canceled and another tract secured. Mr. Addison's main job was to hunt out stretches of forest that contained wood suitable for paper pulp and lease it for his company. In this way he traveled many thousands of miles and always managed to keep far ahead of the demands of the mills he worked for. He says that while there are still millions of acres of virgin forests in Canada, much of it rich in spruce, and basswood and fir, other millions have been stripped of their trees and put under cultivation. But the government is already taking steps toward reforestation in many districts so as to always have plenty of pulp wood on hand.

Mr. Addison lays the present general shortage of print paper to the curtailed production of the Canadian mills during the world war. He says many new mills are building now, some of them financed by American capitalists, and he looks for the supply of paper to meet all demands within a year.

Mr. and Mrs. Addison have been doing considerable repairing, painting and papering in the old home and are now about ready to begin house-keeping again in earnest.

A prominent aviatrix of Los Angeles says women should fly for their health, and that it is fine for lung trouble and ragged nerves. That's good! The doctors have been hoping for some simple remedy for those very ailments, and here we have it right at our door. If your wife is threatened with a breakdown, just buy her a $20,000 Curtiss or Bleriot and start her out, and first thing you know she'll have a chest like a horse and won't shy at anything. Wonder nobody ever thought of it before.

follow up by the planting and maintenance of trees to protect that work. This will probably not be undertaken in the present season because a necessary preliminary will be the laying of water pipes for the purpose of irrigating any trees set until they become established. These pipes will probably be clamped to the piling and be two or three feet from the ground. There will be frequent openings so the water let into the pipes can be made to cover a wide area.

To get an idea of how the flood control work will look eventually, one should stand on the Canada Boulevard bridge and look over the channel toward the north. Protective work similar to that recently done has been established there over a period of four years. Perpetual streams and water near the surface have encouraged the growth of willows and other trees. South of that point, if water is artificially supplied, it will be a simple matter to reinforce the protective work with trees that have been grown in the municipal nursery. The city has a quantity of sycamore trees six to ten feet high that could be placed this year if the pipes had been laid. Mr. Merrick the city forester, has suggested the planting of acorns, then supplying the water and letting nature do the rest along the protective work.

THREE BIG HURDLES

In filming the first chapter of Genesis, which will be the subject of the first spectacle of The Pageant of the Bible, Director Raymond Wells, of The Historical Film Corporation of America, has probably the most difficult job ever put up to a director. In fact, Mr. Wells has three hurdles to take before he gets really started on the Bible pictures that would appal most knights of the megaphone—Creation, The Garden of Eden and The Flood. In filming Creation the director is dealing with cosmic materials. The camera, one might say, is set up at the right hand of the Creator and the conception of effects from that standpoint has nothing to guide it. Director Wells must pioneer; he must himself be a creator, and his workshop is limited only by the wings of his fancy. If he takes the first three hurdles successfully the rest will be comparatively easy.

Pasadena churches have started a movement to organize all laymen into a laymen's organization. It was our impression that the laymen were already organized into churches. If not, what are the churches?

DABNEYS EXPECT TO RETURN TO GLENDALE

Mrs. A. S. Dabney was in Glendale Monday investigating property for sale, with a view to again locating in Glendale. She and her husband, Dr. Dabney, lived in Glendale several years ago at 429 West Elk Avenue, and they regard it as the ideal home city. They are now living in the extreme southwestern corner of Los Angeles, and Mrs. Dabney says that many of their neighbors are ex-shipyard workers who went out on strike many months ago. Many of them, particularly the carpenters, are now working on some of the mammoth new moving picture studios and the Goodyear Rubber Company buildings, while a very few have gone back to the shipyards.

ELKS' LODGE MEETING

The regular meeting of the Glendale Elks Lodge Monday night was a small and uneventful one by comparison with many other sessions, but it was a pleasant gathering nevertheless for those who were in attendance. Fourteen were elected to membership and there were eight new propositions. Notifications are being sent to twenty-six who have recently been elected to present themselves for initiation next Monday night and big things are promised for that occasion.

One of the items of business transacted at the last night's meeting was the appointment of Earl Patterson to the office of Esquire for the unexpired term which will end with the last meeting in March.

A BUSY FAMILY

Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Ralston and family are busy as usual. The picture, "Polyanna," in which Howard Ralston supported "Mary Pickford" as juvenile lead, is now released and the Ralston family had the pleasure of viewing it upon the screen Monday evening at Clune's in Los Angeles.

Esther Ralston, who has been working at the Metro Studios with Viola Dana now has a contract with the Garson Studio at Edendale for the picture "Michael and His Angel," in which Conway Tearle is the star. She has the leading girl or ingenue part of the "angel."

Mr. and Mrs. Ralston and their son, Clarence, are working at the Brunton Studios with Lottie Pickford, but had a holiday today because it was too gray to go out on 'location.'

Live eels are reported to have come out of the water faucets of the city water system at Ventura. Some of the residents don't relish the thought of having live eels in their drinking water, but they needn't worry about that as much as if the eels couldn't live in the water. And anyway, what's the difference whether the animals in the water are so small that it takes a microscope to find them, or are a foot or two in length, so long as they don't stop up the spigot when you want a drink?

Some of the big hotels are even doing things up a little by running free schools for the children of their tourist patrons. This will help a little in solving the problem that California faces every year of how to provide free schooling for the hundreds of thousands of tourist children that are here and yet whose parents pay no school taxes here. By the hotels running schools for their children guests, the most of the expense is borne by those who get the most benefit from the tourists.

Wire pulling gets some fellows out of jail but it didn't help much in the case of the colored gent en-cooped at Long Beach, who tried to escape by crawling out on the roof and swinging to the ground on some wires. After he got hold of the wires he found they were like some people's grocery bills—they had been charged and he couldn't get away from them. He was glad to see even the jailer coming to pry him loose, and he hasn't kicked on his happy calaboose home since then.

The Upland News tells of a business man there who took some of his gentleman friends to the theatre in Los Angeles, buying the best seats he could get at the Mason opera house. After they all got comfortably seated and the curtain went up, they found it was only a lecture on spiritual healing and they silently filed out, nudging the host and giving him quiet opinions of what an easy mark he was in the big city.

The Des Moines, Iowa, farmer who married the Long Beach girl who answered his matrimonial ad and whom he found was already married and was only trying to rope him into paying her a sum of money, is beginning to have the dawning of a suspicion that he may have been the victim of a designing female.

The noted Ship Cafe at Venice is only a restaurant now, says a news item, since prohibition went into effect. There are some who thought it was only a restaurant before, but they are the ones who were never in it.

RED CROSS WORK

The American Red Cross does not believe that the war work of the American people ended on Armistice day as some American statesmen seem to feel. On the contrary, it is doing everything within its power to relieve the suffering people of Europe, thus contributing to the restoration of social order and stability. Out of an available fund of $30,000,000 it is proposed to set aside $15,000,000 for European relief, $13,750,000 for use at home, and $1,250,000 for the completion of the program in Siberia. In speaking of the large sum for home use, Dr. Ferrand, head of the organization, says that it is necessary to hold a large reserve for emergency calls. There must be money in hand if the American Red Cross is to be prepared—as it should be—to meet instantly all appeals for help. The public is expected to replenish the disaster fund. The earthquakes reported in Mexico are reminders. But the great work just now is in Europe. Dr. Ferrand says:

There is a condition of suffering, disease and helplessness, particularly in eastern Europe, far beyond anything that the resources of the Red Cross and of all other relief agencies could hope to meet. It is certain, however, that this sum, together with surplus military supplies, partly intrusted to us by the United States government and partly previously purchased by the Red Cross, can go far to mitigate extreme suffering.

This great organization is also ready and willing to administer any other funds that are intrusted to it to relieve distress. Through its activities during the war, even before we went into it, the American Red Cross reflected honor on the American name. Wherever it has gone it has been recognized as the representative of the American people. Today it is making friends for this nation among people who find it difficult to understand the spirit of aloofness that is manifest in certain quarters. The work of the American Red Cross makes for unity, peace, mutual understanding and good will. The American nation is known to many only as helper and servant. We should be proud that it is so. Our great ambassador is the American Red Cross, which represents all that is best in American citizenship and Christianity.

NO MIRACLES EXPECTED

The agreement between the railroads and the government provided that when the return was made the roads, rolling stock, road beds, etc., should be in as good condition as when taken over. This means another dip into the federal treasury, and, hence, into the pockets of the taxpayers. Putting the roads under private ownership again is expected to result in economies of operation, yet a miracle is not expected and the change in operation methods can not be brought about in a day. The government, having increased wages, shortened hours and added to the number of employees, can not expect the roads under private ownership to go back to pre-war conditions, so present standards must be continued at least for a time. And if the government has been operating under those standards at a loss of millions of dollars, private operation can not become so efficient and economical as to wipe out this great deficit. As the public treasury can no longer be drawn upon the revenue will have to come from the public in the form of increased rates—Indianapolis News.
